

Art Class Description

For all of my art classes, I focus on teaching the basic elements of art. My first objective is to teach the children how to draw. Then we start with the beginning step of learning about lines and shapes. Then I introduce them to color and color combinations. The next step is learning about values and tints. They also learn about primary, secondary and complimentary colors. The oldest class learns how to create texture, symmetry, and a well balanced composition.

I teach all of these elements through a variety of art mediums (paint, pastels, found objects, etc.). I also work with the teachers of Spirit of Grace to tie in our artwork with what the children are learning in their classes.
